

Redemption in 3 Stages

Redemption is in three parts and is incomplete without including creation. And that has happened for those who believe in scripture as is evident by these bible quotes. "Christ came to "redeem all things to himself". God restored all things to himself through Jesus Christ and He is the propitiation for the whole world", "for God was in Christ Jesus reconciling the world to Himself". And "God sent His Son into the world not to condemn the world but that the world through Him would be saved". If we are in Him it is. And last but not least;

1 John 4.14 "And we have seen and testify that the Father has sent the Son as Savior of the world".

And so this is what we do. We testify the same thing, the redemption of the world back to the beginning to being "good, very good". If this is not true these scriptures are lies but let Gods testimony about His Son be true in you and believe.

Â

But for some, God must do another work of redemption for creation and they call it "the second coming of Christ". That is an unscriptural phrase. They do not take God at His word. They believe in another Jesus, another teaching. Â As 1st John says "they came out from us" to manifest another coming, another Jesus. Meaning another savior. They use scripture expired and fulfilled in the Christ of the cross, Â "for all the law and the prophets were until John". Christ came preaching "the kingdom of God is at hand" and that claim was never retracted.

Â But it is the 2nd coming seekers who look for a future kingdom. Â They present a "delusion" if possible to "deceive" the elect" a fictitious story. Â And if scripture is true like we first quoted, then the second coming gospel message has no relevance with my relationship with God, myself, and creation. This is the only way to the "redemption of all things" in the 3 parts. To God, to my true self in the image of God, and to creation. This is how Paul could say "old things have passed away, all things become new" and for me they did.Â

Â

Â All of which are redeemed Â and restored as John said "to that which is from the beginning" And this is "in Christ" through faith "from faith to faith", and not an "end time" spectacular carnal fest as some anticipate. "for the gospel of Christ is the power of God unto salvation for all who believe". Â We don't need a second coming end time scenario to happen to believe and receive the gifts of God, but faith in God. It is for the 2nd coming seekers Â that "God has sent forth a strong delusion for them to believe a lie". Why? Because they reject His words like we just quoted so that with "all lying signs and wonders" they may be occupied and condemned. Â

Â The lying signs are misused verses from the bible. But the verses we use in these writings trump their lies.

Â

It is the second coming seekers that use scripture for another savior. To believe in the spelling and the pronunciation of a name, of which changes depending on the culture and language like Jesus, Joshua, Yeshua, Christ or Messiah, Â but not to know the character, is to "know Him not".

Â These people disbelieve Gods word at face value and believe another.Â Â The Jews of old believed in a physical manifestation of the Son of God and His Kingdom, as do these Second Coming seekers, but it was Christ who said that "the Kingdom cometh not with observation". To this they disbelieve too, to whom Christ said of them "do not follow them". Christ's words not mine. Do not follow the 2nd coming prophets.Â

Â Here now is another reason why the Second Coming message is a hoax. It teaches that creation itself must change in Composition and design. But it was when Adam and Eve fell, creation changed its disposition towards mankind by rewarding their works with "thorns and thistles" but creation itself did not change by a spectacular event to be redeemed by a spectacular event as they report.

Â Redemption for creation is that creation itself responds differently to fallen man in his sin nature and the redeemed. Â For creation is perfectly capable of mirroring and rewarding the fallen and the the redeemed and judging the obstinate and rewarding the just in it's current composition and design. Or Christ would not have said to the Father "I pray not that you take them out of the world but that you keep them from evil". So when God spoke the curse, He was only defining the rules of creation towards the fallen person. Christ restored it to us through the cross as displayed by Him. He went to the cross with a crown of thorns signifying the curse of how earth rewards fallen man and showing us that creation is restored from the curse. This is what the second coming seekers "know not" and look for another. They reject the saving of the cross.

Â It is to the redeemed person that creation is restored to the beginning of being "good, very good". And we do not need to see Â the heaven and earth renewed by a spectacular event to be able to say that. That which is not good Â is just because of the works of fallen man. Creation as it is is perfectly capable Â of serving God and man Â as is evident by history that "all things remain as they were, being reserved for the great day of judgment when all things will be burned by fire ". Â But Christ has restored all things to himself all things become new.

Scripture says that "the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night in which all that works and all the elements of the earth will be dissolved with a fervent heat so that what is eternal will remain. Therefore see what manner of person you ought to be in all holy conduct?" showing that it is not creation that we are waiting to have restored to the physical eyes but to a renewed mind. This is part of your salvation and part of the restoration in the redemption. Just as the earth has the ability to wash the skies with rain so too it has the ability to flush the inhabitants from the land as is evident not just by Sodom and Gomorrah but by Egypt of old, by the Aztecs of old and by many other cultures that have disappeared from the face of the earth. Some of them have been so far removed that not even a skeletal remain are found but empty structures.

Â As it says in Romans "for the wrath of God is revealed from heaven against all ungodliness and all unrighteousness of men" and that is now. But some suppose that judgment is only the product of a Second Coming Jesus? That things are out of control. They say "oh God help us and save us"? They show themselves deniers of his word and flounders in the faith driven by fear, for their works (unbelief and fear) will receive nothing. Â And that is what their gospel is, fear and disbelief in the scriptures like the ones we have quoted. They have caused many fractures, divisions and denominations among believers and who authors that?

Â So the redemption of earth that takes place "in Christ" is not that creation need to change in composition and design, as though God did not know that man would fall. That He needed to modify His world as though He was caught off guard? Â But there is a polarity shift that takes place for man with creation in the redemption of the cross and the instituting of the "New Covenant" which is in effect for the faithfulÂ and not reserved for another.Â You see Adam lost the Spirit of God of which He said "in that day you eat you shall surely die" and Â that day he lost Gods blessing and indwelling spirit and became spiritually dead having no spiritual senses. (see my article on the dead) but in Christ we regain the Spirit of God and that for us is "the day of the Lord" being redeemed from the Â "in that day you shall die" of Adam

In that day he died all born of Adam are born dead to the spirit of God. Â We believe and receive the spirit for eternal life. This is "the day of the Lord" and not the second coming. The day of the Lord is the eternal day that all earthly days mimic. Not the day associated with time and matter but spirit. We are no longer of the Adamic but "In Christ" if we receive the gift of His nature, the new man.

Â Creation from the beginning is built in with the automatic system of blessing those who are godly and doing godly goodly things or cursing those who are doing bad. Some call this "karma" and they recognize the rule but they don't understand or know the ruler and designer is God. So when God says he was "in Christ Jesus reconciling the world to himself" this is what he meant. It is restored.

Â So the Second Coming seekers look at the Earth around and see all the damage and the destruction and associate with that. They think that this world needs to be thrown away and started over but the error is in the spirit of their mind. (Rom 12.2) It needs to be re scripted by scripture. They need to be transfigured. This is what we do and the purpose for all Scripture and all our articles. We put on the new man we are gifted with who is just like Christ. We absorb His DNA being the very word of God.
