

John the Baptist and the Lamb of God 1/2/16

It was John the Baptist who said of Christ "here comes the Lamb of God who takes away the sin of the world" for the renewal to commence.

Any other gospel message that comes short of taking away the sins of the world is incomplete. Any other message that teaches of a future saving or a future victory over sin or a future victory over Satan or a future victory in any way is a false gospel, a truncated gospel. But "we speak of what we've heard and testify to the things that we have seen". John was a man sent forth by God. It was said of John the Baptist that of all the prophets he was the greatest, and he was the greatest because he spoke plainly something that all the other prophets just alluded to. And that is that "the Kingdom of God is at hand". And he didn't mean some silly city on earth called Jerusalem. That was turned "till not one stone was left upon another". You see no other prophet put it so plainly and so clearly than that the kingdom of God is something to be grasped. "At Hand". "All the law and the prophets were until John the baptist, from that time the Kingdom the Kingdom is preached and all are pressing in"? Yes! Because "all the law and the prophets were parables". Yes they were pictures and play things to mimick the invisible ever ready, ubiquitous heavenly Kingdom at hand. The law and the prophets were visible things to learn of the invisible. Parables to teach by carnal visuals of things we need to understand in the spirit of our mind of the "Kingdom prepared from the foundation of the world". A pre-incarnate reality we call the spirit. And when that which is perfect has come? This is the regenerate re formatted mind of faith that co-rules and reigns. Rev 3 "He who overcomes shall rule with a rod of iron" And this happens how? 1 John 5 how is it that we overcome the world? By faith. This is the overcoming of scripture and need not another earthly Jesus or city called Jerusalem. "He who overcomes shall be a pillar in the house of God".

The churches were called to overcome but stuck in the visuals like today. That is not of faith but fact, that is not of the eternal spirit but time and matter. Every clock has a deadline and expiration date, but not the things of God. That is what eternal means and what we get. That which was before God ever said "Let there be light!"

No city or king on earth ever are the fulfillment of Gods word like Jesus said "My Kingdom is not of this world". Not of time and matter.

Learn what this means " Where there are prophecies they will fail, But when that which is perfect has come, that which is in part is done away with". That is what this is.

When Moses was instructed to "make things according to the pattern you saw on the mount" he was to make visible the invisible from where "if even a man or a beast touches they will die". This is the purpose of every true prophet. To make visible the invisible things of God and His Kingdom, A place where flesh and blood can't go but only to the respiration of faith as touching the invisible. And this is the whole purpose of the gospel, that those who are born of the spirit, being those who receive the invisible to be more concrete than any substance of time and matter, that is those born of the spirit who see and enter the kingdom now for "all are pressing in". We don't need a 2nd coming Jesus.

Christianity today is one of the great religions of the world and that is all it is. Just another religion. Having been robbed of its eternal purpose of "the kingdom of God at hand". It ascribes the kingdom to another Jesus with another coming and another kingdom. They forfeit their inheritance as did the Jews of old. And it is because of this there is no saving power without the kingdom of God at hand. You are in need of another Jesus and another Kingdom. So they interpret scripture thus way.

Don't most of other religions and cults expect a savior? A saving one? To save them and help them from their fallenness or wicked world? Then they expect a Kingdom of God in form of a man in a city made with man's devising?

But we speak and we testify that "God has sent His Son Savior of the world" and if this testimony is not true then God must send somebody to save again. Then yes there will be a second coming savior and the cross has no value but to keep you in a 2000 year old prison of empty promises and the cross is a hoax. Is God's "Kingdom at hand" of this world or not?

The 2nd coming message is why the saving of the Christ of the cross is road blocked and detoured by a message "with all lying signs and wonders if possible to receive the elect". These people seek a second coming saving and it is because of this that the true gospel message has been lost. God sent not His Son into the world not to condemn the world (like a 7 year tribulation) but that through him the world would be saved. And He did. That was the saving.

So here is the demise of John the baptist. He was beheaded. He said "are you the coming one or do we seek another?" Yes he was a parrable too. He pictured that the only place man can take you to is the end of themselves, their time. The old mindset of the parable has to be cut off and replaced with "that which is perfect" which is perfect in understanding. That "God has given us everything that pertains to life and God-like-ness by the knowledge of Him who calls us to Glory". As Christ's mind struggle was at golgatha, the skull, so is ours. This is why it is said of John "There is no one born among women greater than he, but he who is least in the kingdom is greater than John, so we are. John failed as the greatest prophet and shown when he sent to Jesus saying "are you the coming one? This is why Jesus said "I do not receive my testimony from man, for He knew what was in man. The need to be born again, of a different make up than time and matter. "To as many as received Him, to them He gave power to become His children. That is those who "are a kind of first fruits now and need not another Jesus to do this.

They were all seeking a kingdom, and Jesus sent word back "tell him the things you see" So we do. Christ has come savior of the world and provided us the way. Himself saying "I am the way the truth and the light. And time must expire for eternity to begin Christ is the new and living. The old didn't work. Remember "Father if there be any other way? Never the less thy will be done". And He did. And He said "It is finished". This is about as close to thomas you will ever get. "Stick your fingers in my side and see" This is "That which we have heard, which we have seen and handled concerning the word of life". And this is the "Word that became flesh and dwelled among us" who returned to the Father and calls us to Himself, the new and living way that expired the law and the prophets. They were put out of business by Jesus saying "Father that where I am they may be also" Him who said "I go away to the Father and you see me no more"? And Pauls revelation "We once knew Christ of the flesh, henceforth we know

Him that way no more". Not ever again. The Word was in the beginning! The word was God! The Word was with God! The word Became flesh (not His natural composition) and dwelled among us" to return home like the parable of John 13.. So "to as many as recieved Him He gave power to become His chindren" is not those who recieved the man Jesus but the word. Which one is your Jesus? The man? Or the Word?

Look and behold it is Me and not another. Did I not say "Lo I am with you through the ages"? That "I will never leave you or forsake you? I am the same "Yesterday, today and forever"? Yes it is Me. It is I who "stands at the door and knocks". Behold Me. I am the coming one coming through Word. I am Word in My natural composition and this is how I come. Not a first and a 2nd coming but over and over and over. Your "lord delays not His coming". For the Lord who does not tarry comes to you now in Word form. This is the bread of life that comes down from heaven and gives life to the world. Recieve me this way and not a silly waffer. Or worse another coming man for another coming kingdom on earth. John sent forth word "Are you the coming one?" That mindset was chopped off showing the "putting off the body of sin of the flesh" to be renewed in thinking. This is your rapure and you being "translated into the kingdom".

When John said "The Kingdom of God is at hand". That is as far as man goes. He can deliver the Word. The rest is up to you. "To as many as believed, to them He gave power to become His children". Did you recieve that? Not the later coming Jesus but Me? Word? I gave you the keys to the Kingdom. Use them and enter in.

The Kingdom of God is now at hand.
